WILLIAM E. NORRIS

IS DEAD AT HOME

Former Train Dispatcher Was
At Time Of Death Employe
Of Tax Collector

William E. Norris, for the past eight years an employe of the city tax collector's office and former train dispatcher for the Southern Pacific Company here, died last night at his home, 1012 P Street, after a week's illness.

Norris was a member of an early-day family of Sacramento. He worked for about thirty years for the railroad company, rising to the position of chief train dispatcher. He entered the employ of the city after retiring from the service of the Southern Pacific on a pension. He was head of the water charges department of the tax collector's office and was regarded by city officials as one of the most valuable employes at the city hall.

Deceased was a member of the Odd Fellows. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Minnie Norris, and by a daughter, Mrs. Lola Doyle of Sacramento.

The funeral will be held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the undertaking parlors of James R. Garlick, 1517 Eleventh Street. The interment will be in the City Cemetery.
